Preparation Tasks

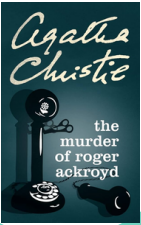

1. Buy the Penguin edition of 'Death of a Salesman'. Read it carefully. Produce a 500 word summary of the plot.
2. Watch a version of 'Death of a Salesman' (there's a few different versions available on YouTube - old theatrical performances, the Dustin Hoffman film etc). Briefly summarise the differences between the script and the version you have watched.
3. Read at least one book by Agatha Christie. Make a list of what makes it an effective crime text.
4. Complete at least one task of your own choosing from the transitions tasks list or the 'Making the Leap' projects

SHOPPING LIST

'Death of a Salesman', Arthur Miller (Penguin Edition)

Available elsewhere, but try to get this edition - it will help with page numbers etc

'The Murder of Roger Ackroyd'

Supplies

You will need 2 folders, one for Crime and one for Tragedy. You'll also need highlighters etc.

A good pen

A good pen makes the world of difference when you are writing essays. Try out some different ones and find one you like. It's no good writing clever things no-one can read!
