

Welcome to A-Level Film

Welcome to the wonderful, technicolour world of A-Level Film Studies. This course requires you to understand the technical aspects of film making alongside understanding how and why audiences continue to be gripped by performances on the silver screen. The following tasks will give you an excellent grounding for this course.

Task 1

Create a revision resource (PowerPoint, Word Document, Video[s]) of the following features. Make sure that you have the following on the resource: The Feature with an image showing the Feature, a description of the feature, the usual reason why it is used or the effect that it has on the audience.

Camera Angles	Camera Movement	Editing	Sound	Mise-en-scène
Extreme Close-Up	Pan	Cut	Diegetic Sound	High-key lighting
Close-Up	Tilt	Wipe	Non-Diegetic Sound	Low-key lighting
Mid-Shot	Boom	Fade to Black	Sound Effects	Halo effect
Long-Shot	Zoom In	Fade to White	Soundtrack	Colour (use of)
Extreme Long-Shot	Zoom Out	Fade from Black	Complimentary Sound	Props
High-Angle Shot		Fade frpm White	Contrapuntal Sound	Costumes
Low-Angle Shot		Iris
Eye-Level Shot		Dissolve
Point-of-View Shot
Over-The-Shoulder Shot
Bird's-Eye View Shot

Task 2

Watch any two films from two different periods of history and identify examples of the film making features found the above table. Research who the director and actors are, the budget given to the film and the intended audience.

Task 3

Write a 500 word response about a film of your choice:

How far does the opening sequences in your movie prepare the audience for the rest of the film?

You could consider:

- Introduction to character types
- Location shots
- Use of sound, editing and mise-en-scene.
